

2022 Annual Report

See the impact your generosity is making in vulnerable communities around the world.

Explore the Impact

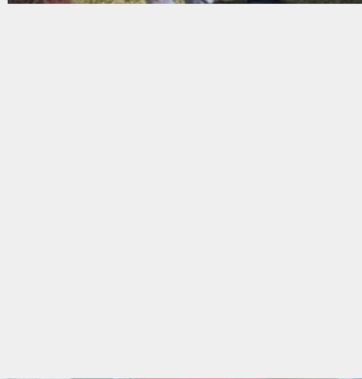

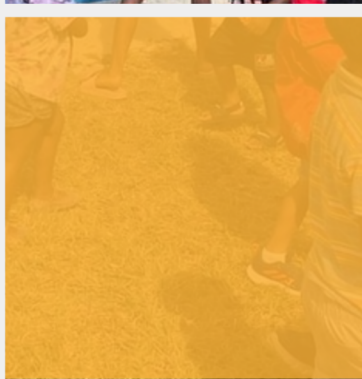

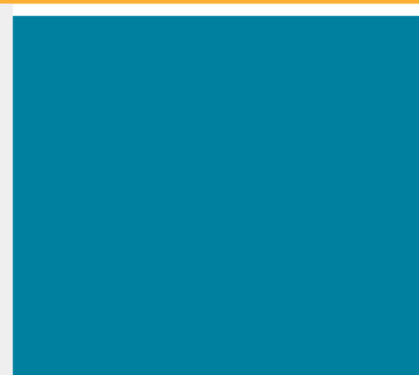

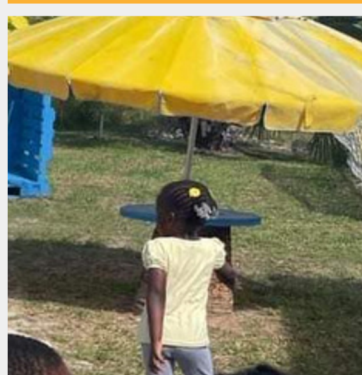

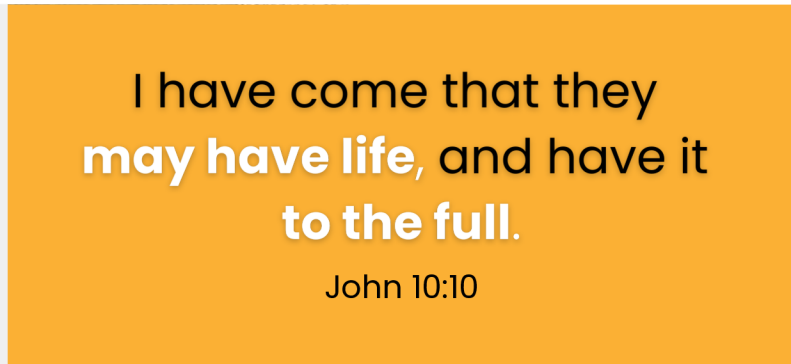

Transformational development is the key to seeing sustainable change take hold in vulnerable communities around the world. Each and every location where we work has a story, one that started long before we arrived and one that will continue long after we are gone. Our work empowers local community leaders to chart the course. By listening to a community's hopes and dreams for themselves, we come alongside them to see the change they long for happen. This year we have seen growth in donations, volunteers and short-term teams visiting our World Hope projects around the world. Many of you have been praying for us and we are so grateful for you! Thank you for your ongoing partnership as we work to see opportunity, dignity and hope flourish in vulnerable communities around the world.

I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full.

HOPE GARDEN PROJECT

INTRODUCING: THE HOPE GARDEN PROJECT

THE BAHAMAS

Hope Garden Project partners with local, established preschools to see transformation come to the island of Grand Bahama by:

- changing the cycle of dependency by empowering, educating, and supporting community leaders.
- reducing hunger through sustainable gardening projects run through partnering preschools. This will help provide healthier food choices for children and their families.
- ensuring that preschool-aged children have access to quality education.

By having World Hope International and the Hope Garden Project show up it has given me hope!

Global Health

Illnesses that would be easily treated or are uncommon in much of the world continue to cause misery and unnecessary death in vulnerable communities.

World Hope International responds to the scale of the problem by working to strengthen the public health system—alongside clinicians, hospitals, doctors, physical therapists, community health workers, midwives, teachers, health volunteers, medical students, and others—so the most vulnerable will have access to high quality & affordable healthcare and prevention services.

17M$CDN of medicines, medical supplies, equipment, first-aid and hygiene kits were distributed in Moldova and Ukraine to support Ukrainian refugees and those affected by the war

1,755 children living with disabilities received occupational and/or physical therapy in Sierra Leone

2,123 women were screened for cervical cancer in Sierra Leone

11,488 prisoners in Haiti received meals, with 1,010,423 meals served

JANET'S STORY

Enable the Children

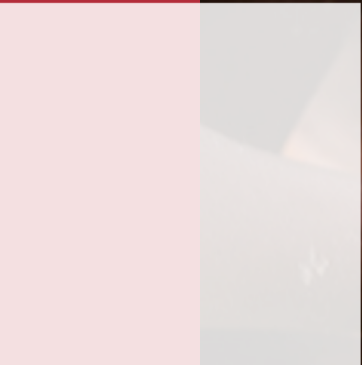

The goal of World Hope's Enable The Children program is to enable children with disabilities in Sierra Leone to be included, loved, and valued in their families and communities, ensuring a good quality of life. In a country where disability is often seen as a curse, providing access to services that support the overall health and spiritual well-being of children living with disabilities is central to WHI's overall mission to alleviate poverty, suffering and injustice.

Our Enable the Children (ETC) team began seeing Janet in 2016 when she was three months old and unable to control her neck or hold it upright. Although she was provided therapy by the ETC team, Janet continued to struggle to sit, crawl or use her upper limbs. ETC provided her with a corner seat to help her sit independently, and as she grew, the program provided her with a tilted chair and standing frame with supportive shoes so she could learn to stand. With ETC's support and encouragement, exercise, and equipment, Janet started to stand and progressed to walking independently.

Jesus traveled through all the towns and villages of that area... announcing the Good News about the Kingdom.

And he healed every kind of disease and illness.

Protection & Education

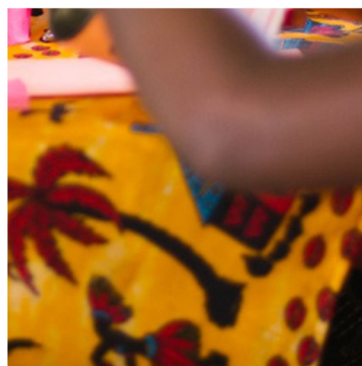

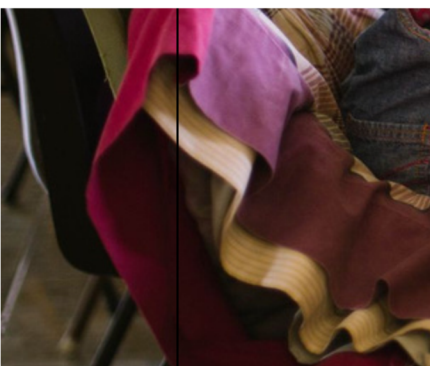

Protection in humanitarian and development contexts is about ensuring safety and wellbeing and encompasses respect for human rights.

Protection is about empowering equitable access to services and opportunities.

We work to address issues that violate basic human rights, including human trafficking, gender-based violence, and lack of access to education through our innovative and multi-dimensional projects.

473 children received the personalized help they needed to fully engage in the classroom in Bosnia and Herzegovina

5,839 children were supported with access to quality education in Sierra Leone, Liberia, Haiti, the Philippines, and Zambia.

802 survivors of trafficking were supported and cared for in Liberia, Sierra Leone, and the Philippines.

HEALING & HOPE: THE RECOVERY CENTRE

Sierra Leone

Julie, a 22-year-old woman, was living with her aging mother and aunt in Freetown. She had desperately wanted to go to university but didn't have the money. A friend offered to do whatever she could to help Julie and connected her with a man who said he could get her a job as a housemaid to earn money for her education.

This man arranged for her to "work" in Oman and prepared her travel documents. Arriving at the airport in Oman she was picked up by an Omani man who introduced himself as her employer.

The next day Julie was woken up at 4 am and was told she had been bought for 2 years. She wanted to reach out to her family, but she had no access to a phone. She worked over 18 hours a day, without pay.

One day while home alone, the husband came into Julie's room and raped her. This continued every night. After about 18 months, she discovered she was pregnant so the husband dumped her miles away from his home. A taxi driver found her and took her in but he also repeatedly raped her.

Through another survivor, Julie was connected with an organization called Do Bold. Do Bold helped her travel back home when she was 6 months pregnant and referred her to World Hope International.

Julie received prenatal care and food support. Regular home visits were done by a counsellor to support her emotionally. She delivered a baby boy a few months after returning home. Julie and her son are doing well. The counsellor and social workers continue to monitor her progress, to offer her the support she may need as she navigates new motherhood and heals from her abuse.

7,290 more residents have access to clean, piped water in rural Cambodia

113 borehole wells were drilled in Sierra Leone bringing access to clean water to 29,298 more people

Clean Water & Energy

Since 2004, we've been committed to drilling clean water wells, launching market-driven water solutions, and providing necessary sanitation facilities in some of the world's most vulnerable communities.

It is why we challenge ourselves to innovate and constantly improve the quality of our approach to serve hundreds of thousands of people across Sierra Leone, Liberia, Haiti, and Cambodia. Today, people are living healthier, more productive lives because of nearby access to clean water.

1,676 households have access to newly built latrines in Sierra Leone with 49 communities declared open defecation-free

6,885 patients per month at the hospital and clinic in Liberia were supported with clean drinking water

NO MORE SWAMP WATER

How nearby access to clean water is life-changing

Dirty water affects the health and safety of millions of children. Mariama is 10 years old and dreams of becoming a nurse one day. The community where she lives didn't have access to clean water so people would fetch their water from a nearby swamp for laundry, bathing, and drinking. People would often get sick with cholera and other water-borne diseases.

In 2022, World Hope International, drilled a deep-borehole well and installed a water pump in Mariama's community and now she fetches water in the morning to bath and drink before going to school. Having nearby access to clean water means Mariama doesn't get sick from the water she drinks. It means she has more time to study since she doesn't have to walk far to collect water. It means she is less vulnerable to people who might want to attack or abuse her because she no longer has to travel the remote road to the swamp.

It means Mariama has hope for her future.

Indeed, the water I give them will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life.
